Napoleon Hill

Andrew Carnegie contracted Napoleon Hill to interview the 100 richest people of their day, and distill that knowledge into a development guide.

While the language reflects the conventions of the day, the ideas are modern and applicable to today's business world.

"The Law of Success" is even more useful than "Think and Grow Rich" because the principles are connected as action steps.

"NO man could possibly read the Law of Success philosophy, even once, without becoming, thereby, better prepared to succeed in any calling." - Elbert H. Gary, an American lawyer, county judge and corporate officer. He was a key founder of U.S. Steel in 1901, bringing together partners J. P. Morgan, Andrew Carnegie, and Charles M. Schwab. The city of Gary, Indiana, a steel town, was named for him when it was founded in 1906.
