Finding the Light, Book 1 (Peaks at the Edge of the World) (Volume 1) M. F. Erler

On the distant planet of Terres, far in the future, a young boy—Jael—finds his family being torn apart by dark forces of the Galactic System. Raised by his mother, and older siblings—who believe in a distant ruler called the True King—he soon finds himself alone in a world that is falling apart. Now he must put his trust in a stranger named Jon, who claims he has the ability to cut across space and time—by Crossing the GAP. Jael convinces Jon to take him across their planet—toward the mountain peaks at the edge of their world—to help him find his runaway sister, Martina. But Martina has become possessed by the dark forces of the Redlarks, people who live in the Wilds. Will Jon and Jael be able to release her, and escape to a better place? This book asks “What if Christianity were to survive into the distant future?” Would this ancient religion have any meaning in a complex, future technology? What would life be like for a tiny remnant who are severely persecuted, and trying to cling to ‘Old Ways’?
